Fund Managers' Comments

North American equity indices recovered ground in March after a difficult start to the year, despite elevated concerns over inflation, interest rates and geopolitical risks, as the first signs of a diplomatic resolution to the Ukraine conflict filtered through. The MSCI North American Net Total Return Index (with net dividends reinvested) gained 3.6% in the month (similar to the S&P 500), while the Fund gained 1.8% (US$ I Share Class).

There was little corporate news of note during March as we await Q1 2022 earnings announcements. As a result, individual stock moves were dominated by companies' exposures to different macro forces and their defensive qualities. Some companies exposed to discretionary consumer spending and lending activity fared poorly as investors fretted over the pressures from rising living costs and more expensive borrowing costs.

Notable positive stock performances came from: Canadian Natural Resources, an oil producer, United Rentals, an equipment rental company, and Anthem, a health insurer. While Canadian Natural reported strong Q4 2021 results during the month, the primary reason for the move in the stock was likely the global oil price which reached its highest level in a decade. There was little news on either Anthem or United Rentals.

Among the largest detractors from relative performance were Signature Bank, a commercial bank, Qualcomm, a semiconductor company, and IAC/InterActiveCorp, a holding company of internet and media assets. There was little company-specific news or changes in fundamentals, with prices adjusting to reflect prevailing macro concerns.

Please see our forthcoming quarterly investment update for a fuller discussion of the impact of recent events on our positioning and thinking.

Risks

- Capital is at risk and there is no guarantee the Fund will achieve its objective. Investors should make sure their attitude towards risk is aligned with the risk profile of the Fund.
- Past performance is not a reliable guide to future performance. The value of investments may go down as well as up and you might get back less than you originally invested.
- The value of a fund's assets may be affected by uncertainties such as international political developments, market sentiment, economic conditions, changes in government policies, restrictions on foreign investment and currency repatriation, currency fluctuations and other developments in the laws and regulations of countries in which investment may be made. Please see the Fund's Prospectus for details of all risks.

- The Fund may enter into a derivative contract. The Fund's use of derivatives carries the risk of reduced liquidity, substantial loss and increased volatility in adverse market conditions, such as failure amongst market participants.

- The use of derivatives will result in the Fund being leveraged (where market exposure and the potential for loss exceeds the amount the Fund has invested) and in these market conditions the effect of leverage will magnify losses. The Fund makes extensive use of derivatives.

- If the currency of the share class is different from the local currency in the country in which you reside, the figures shown in this document may increase or decrease if converted into your local currency.
